How do I Achieve the Energy for Bringing my Dreams into Being in Life?

Neuroscience now proves humans broadcast to each other - giving and taking energy invisibly. It seems that these broadcasts have the power to effect physical changes in our body and brain. So they impact our health and also our personality. New research also shows us that the body received energy through the senses. For example, music is converted into electrical charge in the inner ear and energises the whole system.

Such data throw new light on the Asian physiology of chakras and meridians. So what are the practical implications of this new knowledge? Join us to learn how to use the technology of a human being to achieve high-level energy; the energy you need to make your dreams come true.

The New Biology – How Love Can Change Your Body

Neuroscience is changing the blueprint of the human. The most modern research shows us that love is the matrix of biology. That is to say, the most powerful force in maintaining life is love. This is totally at odds with our conventional understanding of biology, where all we see in nature is a bloody and meaningless survival of the fittest where might is right. We think this through a narrow focus on the material and the chemical. But it is now established that DNA does not have enough data for a baby to grow after birth. It needs to receive broadcasts from the brain of its primary care-giver (typically its mother) to get the programming needed to grow to maturity. It can only receive these broadcasts if there is a bond of love with the primary care-giver. That broadcasts from the brain of another if we are bonded with the other, has a biological impact on our body, is a whole new biology. Come and learn the implications this has for human health and happiness.
